VICKY MAKES THINGS

STATEMENT I am a minimalist who has always made things, and has the need to create. That duality is reflective in my work, where I explore the relationship between simplicity and decoration. Inspired by texture and the natural world, my work showcases unglazed surfaces and celebrates the tactile nature of stoneware, and the making process itself.

BIO Vicky Pratt Becker is a ceramicist and stylist living and working in the Junction in Toronto, Canada. Inspired by raw materials and the tactile nature of clay, her work is focused on exploring simplicity and contrast. Vicky is a graduate of the York University + Sheridan Institute Honours Bachelor of Design Degree Program where she studied design and fine art. Vicky believes in an interdisciplinary approach to design, and has previous careers in graphic design and surface pattern design, as well as prop styling and visual merchandising.
